RACING AT ELIZABETH, OREGON IS BEATEN BY BAD RIDING:

TWO RACES GO TO THE DWYERS, WHO SHOULD HAVE WON THREE.

The rain was very slight at Elizabeth yesterday ernoon, and the track was in excellent condition. In fact, the storm was far less severe at the race

Oregon would have won the first race easily, but for the folly of Bergen in waiting too long before he moved up. If he had ridden Oregon with the same skill, energy and even desperation which he displayed upon Fordham on Thursday, he could not have been beaten. But through his cardlessness and procrasti-nation, Tipstaff won the race by a head, losing Michael Dwyer a heavy sum which he had put on Oregon. Little Minch sulked and ran far below his best form. Lavinia Belle won the second race in a hotly disputed finish from Barrister, with King Crab and Golden Reel so close up that much excitement and enthusiasm over the close struggle were observed.

In the third race Lisimony, the favorite, shook off Tulia Blackburn's challenge in the last furiong,

Any man who attempted to explain the running of Castaway II and J. A. B. during the last fortnight upon any basis of reason, integrity or consistency, would soon be under the care of physicians for a faial case of general paralysis of the brain. They In their lives they have been altogether levely, and in their deaths they ought not to be divided-for both of them ought to be shot instantly if their peculiar running is their own fault, or if it is not their own fault, then any persons who may be responsible for it ought to be shot. Castaway II was responsible for it ought to be shot. Castaway II was the favorite and J. A. B. second choice. Castaway II led all the way and won in a walk. This made his recent racing look very, very queer. J. A. B. was buckjumping furiously before the race, and appeared to be full of the loftiest ambitton. But never could any old paralytic hobbie any more meckly than did J. A. B. when the actual running came. He was beaten far off, not only by Castaway II, but also by Guy Gray. Now, when J. A. B. was running in Captain Brown's colors and everything was all right, he was "class" enough to give Castaway II about ten pounds and Guy Gray about forty.

THE ELIZABETH ENTRIES TO DAY. One of the host November programmes that the New-Jersey Jeckey Club has offered will be run off to-day, and unless the rain continues the half-holfday attendance is certain to be large.

There is a strong field of sprinters in the first race. Probably Belle d'Or has too much weight to-defeat so fast strambiers as Bradford, Grimaldi, Lela May and Blue Rock. At even weights Belle d'Or could outron them all. But can she concede from nine to fourteen pounds to them? I think not. So I shall name Bradford to win and Blue Rock for second

Taragon will probably win the second race, with

As about ten of the Brooklyn players have already signed contracts for next season with that club, a jump for the Brotherhood ranks would not do much harm to the Bridegnooms. It is not thought that a single Brooklyn player would desert the American Association.

Recorder Smyth's calendar in the Court of General ssions yesterday contained nine or ten cases, but Deputy Assistant District-Attorney Parker, who was the prosecutor, had no case in which a jury could In some instances witnesses were not present and in others sufficient time for preparation had not been given. A large number of jurors was present, and soon after 12 o'clock, when Mr. Parker said that he could not proceed, the Recorder directed that he send to the other parts of the court for a case so that the jurors might be kept busy.

No case could be obtained and the Recorder asked of Mr. Parker: "Who has charge of making up the calendars and subpoenaing witnesses?"

"The chief clerk, Mr. McCabe," Mr. Parker replied.
"Send for Mr. McCabe," said the Recorder.
The chief clerk was not at his office and his assistant made the best explanation that he could of the circumstances, but the Recorder was not satisfied. He said to the jurors: "I am compelled to dis-charge you at this early hour because no cases are At the same time I am informed that there The leaders in the baseball Brotherhood strife held an informal meeting yesterday afternoon. After the jurors had been discharged Mrs. Mary Green, who was the complaining witness against Emma Willis, accused of grand largeny, went to the bar of the court to learn why the case in which she was a witness had not been called. She said that she had only accidentally learned that the case was on the calendar. Mr. Parker looked at the return made by the subpoens-servers and found that it in dicated that Mrs. Green had been personally served with a subpoena. He called the attention of the Recorder to the matter and the Recorder sent to ascertain the name of the subpoens-server wh made the report of service. He was told that Charles Merritt was the subpoena-server, and on Mrs. Green's affidavit that she had received no subpoena, the Recorder issued an order requiring Merritt to show cause before him on Monday morning why he should not be punished for contempt of court in making a false return of the service of a subpoena. DENOMINATIONS. Before the New-York Presbytery met on Monday to cuss the revision of the Westminster Confe Faith, no one felt certain of the result. After the vote had been announced, 67 for revision and 15 against it, there was no longer any doubt that a change was desired by this influential body, but what changes will be recommended to the General Assembly no one can tell. The Presbytery wants a revision, that has been decided; but the resolution contained an explanation that was interpreted in various ways: "Understanding the word 'revision' to be used broadly as comprehending any Confessional changes." Dr. Crosby wants one chapter modified and the Book made consistent by making such other changes as are necessary to this end. Dr. Booth desires to have four or five chapters opened. Dr. Hastings presents a plea for a new Confession. Dr. sample would like a "Declaratory Act," and so on through the Presbytery. Dr. Shedd spoke for the ninority, who are opposed to a revision because they do not believe that the Creed, as it is to-day, teaches error, and that it is unwise to throw the Church into troversy which may endanger the growth of the Church and lead to discord rather than harmony.

An amusing incident of the special meeting was the attitude of the Presbytery toward the secular press. At the previous meeting, by a majority vote of one and that one cast under a misapprehension, it was decided to hold the special meeting with closed doors, because, as one of the members expressed it, the reporters would give prominence to the lighter vein of the debate and omit the arguments. The motion was made so strong that it excluded more than was intended, and so it was rescinded on Monday; although motion was aimed against the press, it was decided, after its rescision, that the reporters were still debarred by a standing rule of the body. The Presbytery relied on one man to give the substance of the debate and the result of the vote to all the papers in the city and to the Associated Press, but he only heard a few of the speeches, took no notes and did not wait till the vote was announced. It was whispered about the room during the day that reporters were present, but it was known that several theological students were also present, and the effort to decide who were students and who were reporters seemed so great that the officers winked at the offence, if it be an offence to report a discussion on such an important question as the revision of the Standards of a Church

A story is going the rounds of the religious press to the effect that Dr. J. M. Buckley, Editor of "The Christian Advocate," was once called upon to conduct a funeral in a parlor. A book was handed to him from which to read the Scripture selections, but instead of being a Bible he found that it was a copy of "The Public Statutes." Dr. Buckley was not at all disconcerted, but opening the book near the middle, repeated slowly the twelfth chapter of the Book of Ecclesiastes, and no one of his auditors knew that he was not reading.

The Methodist people are much pleased with the the meeting of the American Board, It was probably the first time that Dr. Storrs had admitted publicly that he is "a bit of a Methodist." Among his other happy remarks were these: "Every summer I spend ten or twelve weeks among the Methodists, and I am quite certain, if I had known them earlier in my life, nothing but the predetermined counsel and foreknowledge of God would have kept me from being one. I love them for this fact, that what a Methodist believes he believes with all his might, and what he believes with all his might he is able to speak with

The wheat movement was still large, there being about 300,000 bushels at the nine points, more than for the same day last year. There was still considerable apprehension in regard to the action of the Warchouse Commission touching the petition for the lowering of the contrast grade of wheat at Chicago. It is felt that such action would greatly hurt the price. Hutchinson was a large buyer of December. December opened at 80 1-4 cents, sold to 61, and closed 2: 80 3-4a-80 7-8 cents. It is expected that the Government report will be published saturday afternoon, and that it will be bullish. Provisions were a little more active, but were without a special feature. The November option of pork was enlivened by a little clique buying, advancing the price temporarily 15 cents. The close, however, was at 80 05, only 5 cents over the opening, December wheat on the curb was 80 3-4 cents.

A MEMORIAL FOR WAR PRISONERS.

The scheme for the erection of some kind of a memorial to the 35,000 Union soliders who died in Rebel prisons to the 35,000 Union soliders who died in Rebel prisons formally approved last night at the regular monthly meeting of the New York City Association of Union Expressions of War, at the Tiss Regiment Armory. The president, General Alexander Shaler, and the other officers were added to the committee having the project in charge, which was authorized to have the memorial organization incorporated at once. The work of raising money will be tarted immediately.

Boston, Nov. 8.—The demand for wool has been good, and there have been a number of large manufacturers on the market, but they are hidding oil for low prices and do not buy freely as yet. There have been sales of 2,161,700 pounds of all kinds. Prices were barely steady, and at the close large lines cond only be moved at some concession in prices. Ohio fleeces have said fairly at 331-234c for XX, 313-23 for YX. Michigan X fleeces are quiet at 30c, and No. 1 at 30c, some good lots of fine detaine fleeces have been sold at 32-23c for Michigan and 34-23-5c for Ohio. Combing wools were quiet at previous prices. In Territory wool there has not been much doing; kales are reported of fine at 60c for secured medium and 50-2-35 for medium. Texas wool is dull. Eastern Oregon wool has been selling at 18-21c. A lot of 160-000 pauchs defective spring California wool sold at 164-c. Pulled wools were quiet and weak. Foreign wools move slewly. BOSTON WOOL MARKETS.

in, but the reports of large export clearances gave a strong tone to the speculation, overcoming the influence of weaker cables and heavy Western receipts. The final prices were 3-8 st-1-6 cent higher as follows: The final prices were 3-8 st-1-6 cent higher as follows: The final prices were 3-8 st-1-6 cent higher as follows: May, 89 3-8 cents. Lore was casier. Cash lots were a shade off, but the exporters bought 120,000 bushels. The options closed down 1-3 cent at 41 3-8 for November, 42 for December and 41 7-8 cents for January and May.

Outs were firm, and on the spot 142-2 cent higher, under a fair demand for export. The options closed 1-8 st-1-4 cent higher for November at 20 3-4, December at 27 and January at 27 1-4 and 3-8 cent tower for May at 27 5-8 cents.

Four Years On Crutches, For fifteen years I was afflicted with rheumatism, four years of which I was compelled to go on crutches. Word are inadequate to express the suffering I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living.) I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) which from the first gave me relief, and to-day I am earlying the best of health, and am a well man. I candidly believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market to-day.
